

Quick guide to navigating the course website

To view the content for each week and module of this course, click on the tab for each module below the "OVERVIEW AND INSTRUCTIONS" section.

On each module page, you should see distinct sections addressing "Objectives," "Readings," "Lectures," "Small Group Sections," and "Assignments." In some modules, there may also be "Optional Exercises."

Course lectures can be viewed by clicking directly on the video link image that appears on the course page. You may need to install up-to-date versions of Java or other plug-ins to view the course lectures.

General information about the course can be found in the "OVERVIEW AND INTRODUCTIONS" section or by clicking on the "GENERAL INFO" icon next to the course title.

Note that during most weeks of the course, you will need to view the lectures, complete the readings, and complete assignments for at least two different course topics or modules. For example, content for week two includes both "Week Two, Part I: Study Designs," and "Week Two, Part II: Subjects and Variables."
