

UNIVERSITY OF CALIFORNIA, SAN FRANCISCO SCHOOL OF NURSING

N367: Teaching Residency

Course Guide

Tips and Considerations for your Teaching Residency experience.

1. See the CLE website for planning a Teaching Residency-https://courses.ucsf.edu/pluginfile.php/940707/mod_resource/content/1/Teaching%20Residency%20Proposal.pdf
2. Start by reviewing the syllabus to determine how you meet your Teaching Residency Objectives.
3. Use the syllabus to create your own syllabus for your Teaching Residency.
4. Use the grading rubric to determine how you would like to be evaluated for the course objectives.
5. Discuss your syllabus and grading rubric with the Faculty of Record for your course so that you have consistent expectations for the Teaching Residency.
6. Note the course readings if they pertain to your style of course.
7. If you have any suggestions or ideas to make the Teaching Residency a more meaningful learning experience for students, please contact Jill Howie-Esquivel. (jill.esquivel@ucsf.edu).
